

DISPLAY IT

With two hooks, a dowel, and some clothesline, you can create an open dressing room for play clothes—so they don't have to dig through a box for costumes. Hardwood 1 1/4-by-36-inch dowel, $6, Woodworker's Supply, woodworker.com. Premium 1/4-inch-by-100-foot clothesline, $8, Lehigh, lowes.com.

STOW IT

Send the stuffed animals that are taking over the bed to a new (but still easy to access) red Styrolux home. Pebbles stool on wheels, $96, Marcel Wanders for Magis, Unica Home, (702) 407-1254.

ARCHIVE IT

This metal file cabinet has shallow drawers for storing artwork (and, if you're feeling ambitious, labels for organizing it), plus a shelved area for supplies. Fax-copy-printer center, from $400, Bisley, (800) 627-0075. Nine-and-a-half-inch turntable (on top), $10, oxa.com.

MAKE IT FLEXIBLE

Modular plywood boxes and drawers allow you to create both storage and display zones and can be endlessly reconfigured—all the way through her senior year. Kube sets, $490 for four cubes (two with drawers), pkolino.com. Medium SPY bags, $12 each, Mr. B, mrb-nyc.com. Quattro Stagioni 500-milliliter jars, $2.50 each, one-gallon glass cracker jar with aluminum lid, $7, and white 16-drawer mini cabinet, $13, container store.com.

THE EXTRAS

Quilted twin coverlets in charcoal, $236 each, and quilted twin throws in black, $125 each, utilitycanvas.com. Braided four-by-six-foot oval rug in Nightlife, $249, homespice decor.com. Livingston candlestick lamp, $259, arteriorshome.com for stores.

THE BEDROOM

You want your kids' room to be a place where their imaginations can run rampant—you just don't want all their stuff to do the same. Stick with storage pieces that will adapt to keep up with their ever-evolving interests.
